WHO WE ARE

Resonate Church is a non-denominational, gospel-centered church in East Atlanta affiliated with The Ecclesia Network. From a small core team gathering in 2011 to a church rooted in Belvedere Park today, our locations and seasons have changed, but the heart of that original calling remains. We are a people shaped by the gospel and equipped to participate in what God is doing in the world around us.

Our mission expresses that calling simply: to equip disciple-making disciples for the mission of God. We believe following Jesus is more than receiving knowledge, attending church, or participating in religious activity. A disciple is someone whose whole life is increasingly formed by Jesus and who helps others follow him. The church's work is therefore not complete when people gather on Sunday. We gather to be formed, equipped, and sent.

Two throughlines help us remember why that mission matters: for God's glory and to all people. We want the life of our church to point beyond ourselves to the goodness and glory of God. And we believe the good news of Jesus is good news for all people. These commitments shape the community we are becoming and the places where we choose to invest.

Formed by the Word, together

Three core values describe how we pursue our mission: Word-centered, everybody plays, and everybody sent.

We are Word-centered because Scripture anchors our life together. It shapes our preaching and teaching, informs our convictions, and continually calls us back to the person and work of Jesus. We value thoughtful, contextually faithful teaching that helps people understand the Bible and live in response to it.

At the same time, we do not believe the work of ministry belongs only to pastors, staff members, or the people holding microphones. Everybody plays. The Holy Spirit gives gifts to the entire body, and the church is healthiest when people are known, equipped, and invited to contribute. Leadership at Resonate is meant to multiply ministry rather than collect it in the hands of a few.

And everybody is sent. We believe every follower of Jesus is called to participate in the mission of God. Our homes, workplaces, schools, neighborhoods, and relationships are all places where discipleship and mission take shape. Some are sent across the world. Others are sent across the street. Most of us are sent into the ordinary places we already inhabit.

A community practicing the way of Jesus

Discipleship at Resonate grows in community. Life Groups create space for people to know and be known, wrestle with faith, care for one another, and practice following Jesus together. The Trellis Spiritual Practices provide rhythms that help us remain rooted in Christ. Generational discipleship reflects our desire to form children, youth, and adults within one connected church family through all we do.

Life Groups, the Trellis, and Generational Discipleship prepare us and move us towards a deeper life with God and one another.

As we grow deeper, we also turn outward. Over time, God has cultivated particular commitments within our church: supporting foster and adoptive families, welcoming refugees, walking alongside people experiencing homelessness, including and learning from individuals with disabilities, pursuing racial reconciliation, and building relationships across cultural and socioeconomic differences.

Our local commitments are joined by a global horizon. We support mission among people who have limited access to the gospel, send missionaries, and believe in planting churches that can take root in other communities. These ministries are varied, but they grow from the same conviction: God is already at work reconciling people to himself and one another, and the church is invited to participate.

Shared leadership for a shared mission

Resonate is a non-denominational, elder-led church. We are not governed by an external denominational body. A plurality of elders is entrusted with spiritual oversight and responsibility for the church's doctrine, health, and direction, and they lead in partnership with staff members, an Executive Leadership Team, and the wider body.

This structure reflects something deeper than governance. We believe wisdom is strengthened through shared discernment, leaders need meaningful accountability, and the church's mission is too large to be carried by one personality or position. Our lead pastor serves as an important spiritual, teaching, and organizational leader, but does so within a community of leaders and a congregation in which everybody plays.

We offer this profile as an honest picture of the church a new lead pastor would enter: a body with a clear center, a hunger for the Word, a deep commitment to community, and a calling to God's mission.

Clear at the center, generous with one another

Resonate is a centered-set church. We do not define our community primarily by constructing a boundary and continually deciding who falls inside or outside it. But neither do we believe Christian faith should become a fuzzy collection of ideas without a clear theological center.

Jesus Christ is our center. The essential truths of the Christian faith anchor us, and Scripture provides authority and direction for our life together. Around those essentials, we hold shared church convictions that shape our teaching and practices. We also recognize areas where faithful Christians may reach different conclusions and where freedom of conscience is appropriate. The framework in Resonate's partnership material distinguishes among core essentials, church convictions, and matters of freedom and conscience.

Being centered-set requires both conviction and humility. We want to be clear about what is central, honest about the convictions that guide our church, and gracious where differences remain. The question is not merely where someone stands at a particular moment, but whether we are turning toward Jesus and helping one another follow him.

➤ OUR HISTORY

Resonate began in 2011 with a small group of mostly twenty- and thirty-somethings who shared a desire to build a gospel-centered, Bible-preaching church on Atlanta's Eastside. From the beginning, we wanted to be deeply rooted in the place God had planted us, building genuine community with one another while loving and serving our neighbors.

Those early years were marked by strong expository teaching, close relationships, and a willingness to show up for people in practical ways. Before Resonate had fully taken shape, we hosted a movie night in a neighborhood park as a simple way to meet our neighbors. One family who connected with the church through that event is still part of Resonate today. For years we returned to that same park for community events, while hospitality and care flowed from our relationships: meals, rides, open homes, prayer, and people stepping in when someone needed help. Community has never simply been something we program. It has been one of the ways we have learned to follow Jesus together.

Over the years, that young church has grown up in more ways than one. Many of those twenty- and thirty-somethings became families, and much of our growth has come through children being born and raised within the church. Ministries have changed, some early dreams have taken different forms, and other hopes, including becoming a church that more fully reflects our neighborhood, have taken time to bear fruit. But the deepest commitments have endured: being formed by Scripture, sharing life deeply with one another, extending hospitality and care to our neighbors, and participating in God's mission where He has placed us. We are grateful for what God has built among us, while recognizing there is still much He is calling us to grow into.

OUR CONTEXT

Our congregation reflects the diversity of East Atlanta.

Most of our church lives in DeKalb County along the Memorial Drive and Interstate-285 corridors, with contingents in Atlanta neighborhoods such as East Lake, Kirkwood, and Ormewood Park, as well as the cities of Decatur and Avondale Estates, and outside the 285 Perimeter in Stone Mountain, Clarkston, and Tucker.

Together we represent a range of racial, socioeconomic, cultural, denominational, and generational backgrounds. Yet our church building is intentionally rooted in Belvedere Park, on Memorial Drive, the historic segregation line between Black and white communities. This legacy of racism stands today in dramatic wealth disparities, especially in the value of homes north and south of the highway.

Belvedere Park is a community rich with resilience, diversity, creativity, and opportunity. It is also a community affected by poverty, housing insecurity, educational challenges, and many of the systemic realities present within urban environments. We believe God placed our church intentionally in this location to represent the Kingdom of God, uniting people from very different backgrounds into one new family.

Our context calls us to contextualize the gospel to reach a wide variety of people:

- young professionals moving in along the Atlanta Beltline,
- educated progressives established in the City of Decatur,
- students at Emory University and Agnes Scott College,
- internationals and refugees in Clarkston,
- low-income families and older adults in South DeKalb,
- and people in homelessness around Belvedere Plaza.

We desire to be a church that reflects its neighborhood, intentionally serves its neighbors, welcomes the marginalized, and demonstrates the love of Christ through both proclamation and presence. We are searching for a pastor with multicultural leadership experience to help us accomplish this mission.

► CORE CONVICTIONS

Our Core Convictions give theological shape to our life together. With Jesus Christ at the center and Scripture as our authority, they help us distinguish historic essentials from our community's distinctives, while leaving generous room for secondary differences.

This framework allows us to pursue both clarity and humility. We can be transparent about the convictions that guide our teaching and leadership without demanding uniformity where faithful Christians disagree.

These convictions are not simply statements on a page. They drive our daily life, from the pulpit and leadership table to neighborhood hospitality and spiritual formation. Alongside shared practices, they help translate what we believe into the kind of church we are becoming.

Our complete Core Convictions are available at this link.

The Lead Pastor should affirm Resonate's Core Convictions, including:

- Historic Christian orthodoxy and the authority of Scripture
- Prayer, spiritual formation, and dependence on the Holy Spirit
- Believers' baptism
- Historic Christian teaching on marriage and sexuality
- Mutualist leadership with male and female Elders (as of Sep 2026)
- Whole-family discipleship
- Multiethnic ministry and racial reconciliation
- Justice, mercy, and hospitality toward outsiders
- Local and global mission
- Shared leadership and meaningful accountability

HOPES FOR THE FUTURE

In 2026, Resonate undertook a comprehensive strategic planning process involving congregational surveys, interviews, and conversations with staff & church leadership. What emerged was deeply encouraging. Our congregation consistently identified Scripture, authentic relationships, spiritual formation, and neighborhood engagement as some of our greatest strengths.

We also heard a clear desire for growth in several key areas, and, as a result, the next season of Resonate will focus on four major priorities:

01

Deepening Discipleship

We want to create clearer pathways that help people move from curious attendee to mature disciple to disciple-maker.

02

Developing Leaders

We want to identify, equip, and empower future elders, ministry leaders, staff members, teachers & volunteers from within our congregation.

03

Strengthening Systems and Structure

We want to build healthy organizational systems that support sustainable ministry while preserving the relational culture that defines us.

04

Expanding Local and Global Mission

We want to deepen our investment in Belvedere Park while increasing our capacity for evangelism, church planting, cross-cultural ministry, and global missions.

PARTNERSHIPS

The

SUNDAYS AT RESONATE

Sundays are an important rhythm in the life of Resonate: a time to gather as the body of Christ, encourage one another, worship together, hear and respond to Scripture, and enjoy being together. Across our two Sunday services, at 9:00 and 10:45 a.m., our church family includes adults in many stages of life and a vibrant community of children and families.

Participation is woven throughout the morning. Church members welcome people, make coffee, teach children, lead worship, share stories, offer prayer, and serve in countless other ways. We want Sunday to reflect one of our core values: everybody plays.

Our two-service model supports that value within Family Discipleship. Many teachers serve each week during one service and worship with the congregation during the other, so trusted adults know our children well and can participate meaningfully in their spiritual formation.

A typical service begins with a call to worship and singing, followed by a welcome liturgy. A short fellowship break gives people time to greet one another, refill their coffee, and take children to their classrooms. We then share updates from church leadership and make space for storytelling: hearing how God is at work through a ministry, praying for something on the heart of our church, or receiving an update from one of the missionaries we support or have sent from our own body.

Teaching is centered on Scripture and is typically expository, working carefully through a book of the Bible over time. After the sermon, we create space for a quieter, contemplative response, inviting people to consider how the Word speaks into their lives. We then share communion, continue in worship, and make prayer available before closing by speaking our benediction together.

Increasingly, Sunday is also a place where relationships formed through our Monday Outreach Hour continue to grow. Each Monday, we share a meal, conversation, practical care, and Bible study with neighbors, many of whom are experiencing homelessness. In recent months, more of those neighbors have begun joining us on Sundays. It has been a particular joy to welcome them not simply into a ministry we provide, but more deeply into the worship and shared life of our church family.

MINISTRIES

Family Discipleship

We believe parents and caregivers play the most important role in the spiritual formation of their children, and that the church is called to come alongside and support families in that work.

Family Discipleship at Resonate exists to equip parents and caregivers to nurture faith in the everyday moments of family life while providing children with opportunities to know and love Jesus through the life of the church. Through Resonate Kids' age appropriate teaching, meaningful relationships with trusted adults, and opportunities for families to worship and grow together, we desire to see children develop a lifelong faith rooted in the love of God.

Our goal is not simply to provide programming for children, but to partner with families as they make disciples of the next generation. We welcome families of all abilities and backgrounds, strive to create an inclusive environment for individuals with disabilities and those impacted by trauma, and provide support for families pursuing foster care in our city.

Quick Stat

Resonate Kids has an average of 85 kids in attendance on a Sunday. In 2025, our church family added to our number by celebrating 14 births and 1 adoption from foster care.

What People are Saying

"All my children have felt so loved and welcomed at Resonate. Our former foster daughter was so impacted by her experience here that she was baptized at Resonate. My 9-year-old son has been asking deep questions about God at home. Watching my children grow in their faith is my greatest joy, and I'm so thankful for the Resonate community that has largely fostered that growth."

- Aislynn Turner (partner for 10 years)

SHOUT! Youth Ministry

Shout is Resonate's youth ministry for middle and high school students. We desire to create a welcoming and Christ-centered community where students can build meaningful relationships, ask honest questions, grow in their understanding of Scripture, and learn what it means to follow Jesus in every area of their lives.

Through teaching, community, and shared experiences, Shout seeks to equip students to live as faithful disciples of Jesus and to make Him known among their friends, families, schools, and communities.

Quick Stat

In 2025–2026, Shout served 47 youth, with an average attendance of 15 on Wednesday nights.

What People Are Saying

"My daughter grew up at Resonate and it has been incredible to see her take on her faith as her own in her middle school years. The Shout leaders aren't scared of her hard questions and encourage her in individual and communal spiritual disciplines in a beautiful way. It is her favorite night of the week!"

–Danielle Boultinghouse (partner, 11 years)

Classes

Resonate offers Wednesday night classes for elementary-aged children, teens, and adults designed to help them grow in their understanding of Scripture, theology, spiritual practices, and the Christian life.

These opportunities give us space to ask questions, explore our faith, learn from one another, and become more deeply rooted in the story of God. We believe that growing as disciples involves both the heart and the mind, and we want to provide opportunities for people at every stage of faith to continue learning and growing.

Quick Stat

Each semester we have 85 participants in our adult, youth, and elementary classes on Wednesdays.

What People Are Saying

"Our family treasured Resonate's approach to family discipleship! Having the option for everyone to attend on Wednesdays and for our daughter to begin Bible study as early as 2nd grade impacted her walk with Jesus and our walk as an entire family. We were formed in adult bible studies while our kids were loved and invested in through Scripture study as well. It was so rich and impacted our desire to be a family continually rooted in the Word together."

- Ashley Maxwell (partner 3 years)

Quick Stat

Approximately 70 percent of our regular church attenders are connected to a Life Group

We believe we are better together. Life Groups provide opportunities for people to move beyond Sunday morning and be in community with one another in meaningful ways.

Through regular gatherings, prayer, Scripture, conversation, and fellowship, Life Groups help create spaces where individuals and entire families can be known, encouraged, challenged, and supported as they follow Jesus.

Our hope is that Life Groups become places where genuine community is formed and where people learn to carry one another's burdens and rejoice in one another's celebrations.

What People are Saying

For over eleven years, I've had the privilege of calling Resonate my church home, and for the last seven, my Life Group has been an anchor in my faith journey.

Life Group has never been just a weekly Bible study; we are truly each other's people. We do life together in every sense—celebrating milestones, carrying each other through loss or hard seasons, supporting one another's callings, and cheering each other on. To the many kids and teenagers in our group, I am proud to be "Tita Anna" / "Auntie Anna." Supporting them means showing up for their lives outside of Friday nights—whether that's cheering at soccer games, watching talent shows, picking them up at the bus stop on a particularly hectic day for their families, or attending Eagle Scout Courts of Honor. Together as a group, we share dinners, go on camping trips, volunteer in our community, and show up to support one another at workplace events.

This Life Group community was instrumental in supporting me as I became a respite foster parent, a journey made easier by having fellow Life Group members who share a heart for foster care and adoption. We meet on Fridays, which often coincides with the day new kiddos arrive in my care. From the moment we walk through the door, adults and children alike wrap these short-term visitors in warmth, making sure they feel seen and welcomed—both at Life Group and again on Sunday mornings. In fact, more than one foster child has walked out of our Friday gathering and asked if we "have a party like this every night."

-Anna Breard (partner, 11 years)

Local Outreach

Through local outreach, Resonate seeks to engage our community with humility, generosity, and practical care. This attitude is on full display each Monday at Outreach Hour, when our lobby doors are wide open with a welcome from Jesus Christ to serve our neighbors experiencing homelessness and poverty with resources, a meal, and Bible study. Twenty people come each Monday, on average, to enjoy the meals donated by our church members and be served by our volunteer team. We desire to build relationships with our neighbors to share Jesus and connect them with resources from partner organizations that are faithfully serving our community.

Our hope for local outreach is to equip every believer to be a faithful presence in their neighborhood, school, or vocation, training them to listen, serve, build relationships, and participate in the work God is already doing around them.

Our church demonstrates this heart on Serve Sunday, when we devote our Sunday service time to do service projects in the community. Families volunteer together in organizations across East Atlanta such as STAND recovery center, Frontline Response shelter, and Ethne Medical clinic.

Our summer Kids Camp is also outreach-focused. In June 2026, of the 50 students in attendance, half were from our church family and half were from the community.

What People are Saying

"Outreach Hour has become something truly beautiful. The Lord has blessed this time and created a space that welcomes our community in for something much bigger than just a meal. I've personally seen so much growth in the people who serve and are being served. There have been many relationships that have blossomed through Outreach Hour and continue to grow each week. It's been especially encouraging to see some of those from the area who regularly attend the meals begin attending Sunday services and even volunteering to serve within the church themselves. Seeing God's hand at work in people's lives through Outreach Hour has strengthened my faith and reminded me that the Lord and His Holy Spirit are actively working among us. We're getting to witness real, tangible examples of lives and relationships being changed in ways that can only be attributed to Him. The stories of healing, provision, restoration, and lives being changed have been truly incredible to witness."

-Alex Torres (attendee, 6 years)

Quick Stat

In 2026, we met 129 neighbors at Outreach Hour. On Serve Sunday 2026, 112 volunteers partnered with 7 local organizations.

Global Outreach

God's mission extends beyond our immediate community, and Resonate seeks to participate in His work around the world.

Through global outreach and missions, we have opportunities to pray, give, serve, and build relationships with partners working in different communities and cultures. We desire to support the global Church and participate in the work of making Jesus known among people and places beyond our own neighborhoods.

What People are Saying

God's work in our world is so big and He chooses to partner with us to bring about his kingdom on earth! As one person, it can feel like too much. We are all called to share Jesus in our coming and going, but what about the people who don't have Christians in their coming and going? I take great encouragement knowing I'm part of a body of believers who take this call seriously, both in our local context and around the world. I love that I have the opportunity to participate in global missions with financial and prayer support through Resonate. I love that our church has supplied tangible support to our missionary partners in hard places. I love that so many of us feel called and equipped to go from our own community. I love that I can tell my children stories about people we know bringing the light of Jesus to those living in darkness. Global missions has been a core conviction of Resonate since our small beginnings, and it has only grown as a blessing to my faith.

– Jessica Graham (partner, 15 years)

Quick Stat

Resonate supports 10 missionary units around the world with a focus on the 10/40 window. Five of those have been partners sent out directly from our church family.

Retreats & Spiritual Formation

We believe discipleship requires intentionality and space to slow down, listen to God, and become more like Jesus.

Through annual men's and women's retreats and other spiritual formation opportunities, Resonate creates space for people to step away from the pace of everyday life and intentionally pursue deeper relationship with God. These experiences invite us to practice spiritual disciplines, reflect on God's work in our lives, and grow in our ability to recognize and respond to His presence.

We want to cultivate a church culture where spiritual formation is not limited to a Sunday service but becomes a way of life.

Quick Stat

We offered multiple retreats and spiritual formation opportunities in 2025 and had over 80 participants. Men's and Women's Retreats in 2026 had record attendance of 52 and 42 respectively!

What People are Saying

Resonate has played a significant role in my spiritual formation. Through the teaching of God's Word, Bible studies, discipleship, and opportunities to serve, I've grown not only in my understanding of Scripture but also in my relationship with Jesus. Being discipled by others and learning to pray for people have been especially impactful, helping me grow in my faith and discover how life-giving it is to serve others. Retreats and intentional spaces for spiritual formation create opportunities to step away from the distractions of everyday life, make room for the Holy Spirit, and allow God to continue shaping us into the people He has called us to be. I'm deeply grateful for the ways these experiences have shaped my walk with the Lord.

– Cristi Ferreira (partner, 9 years)

LEADERSHIP & STAFF

Resonate's ministry is supported by a team of elders, executive leaders, paid staff, and volunteer staff who serve the church and help equip the congregation for its mission.

Elders

Trey Boden

Trey is fun, eclectic, and deeply relational. He serves as an elder and currently leads our teaching team, bringing wisdom, creativity, and a genuine passion for helping people love Jesus. He also leads worship and is an entrepreneur by trade, bringing an innovative spirit to all that he does. Trey is deeply committed to seeing our church grow and become all that God has called it to be.

Ryan Kellogg

Ryan is a kind and gentle leader who brings a pastoral presence and a willingness to be vulnerable to our church family. He is also a creative and entrepreneurial thinker who brings fresh ideas, initiative, and a willingness to build and try new things. He has stepped into several important leadership roles recently and has served our church with humility, wisdom, and care.

Jonathan Mayo

Jonathan is a consistent and reliable presence who leads with courage and faithfulness. Through a season of significant challenges, he has persevered with steadfastness and continued to put the needs of our church family before his own. His commitment and dependability have been a gift to Resonate.

Jonathan Potter (elder candidate)

Jonathan is a devoted husband and father of four whose passion for teaching is rooted in a deep love for Scripture and helping others grow in their faith. A New Testament scholar with a PhD in Biblical Studies, he has taught classes and preached at Resonate, bringing depth, clarity, and thoughtfulness to the way he engages the Bible. Beyond his academic gifts, Jon is incredibly kind, humble, and approachable, making him someone who is both easy to talk to and a joy to learn from.

LEADERSHIP & STAFF

Executive Leadership Team

Eunice Chay

Eunice is deeply compassionate and leads with gentleness, wisdom, and a steady passion for the church. She serves as the Chief Dental Director of Ethne, providing low-cost healthcare for refugees and low income individuals. She has a particular heart for the least of these and brings a thoughtful, Christ-centered perspective to our leadership.

Noah Nemni

Noah brings energy, creativity, and a passion for discipleship and outreach. He is committed to helping Resonate multiply disciples and faithfully live out our calling in the community.

Sarah Pascual

Sarah brings a deep commitment to spiritual formation, decisive leadership, and a passion for helping our church family grow in faith and maturity.

Eric Schwartz

Eric is an incredible asset to our leadership team, bringing wisdom, insight, and a deep understanding of Resonate. He has a steady presence that our entire church family benefits from. Having been part of the church since its beginning, he offers valuable perspective on both our history and our future.
